A supreme being is clearly defined and plays a strong role in the plot throughout the myth.
The myth contains mythic, rather than ordinary, language (mysterious tone, cataloguing, repetition).
The myth contains an important act of creation, and this creation is central to the plot of the myth.
The myth teaches lessons, and/or contains moral values that are either explicit or implicit in the myth.
The myth contains culturally specific details that make it appear to have come from a unique culture.
