I am the King of Naples. My daughter has just married the Prince of Tunis and I am sailing home with my son.

I was a loyal and faithful servant to the true Duke of Milan. I helped him and his daughter by giving them food, water and his precious books.

I lived on the island alone. My mother was a witch. I resent the new 'ruler' of the island.

I am a spirit of the air. I was imprisoned by an evil witch many years ago. My new master released me in return for my service.

I am the daughter of a powerful magician. I have lived most of my life on this island.

I was once Duke of Milan. I was betrayed by my brother and sent to my death. I survived and have lived on this island ever since, developing my powers.

I was jealous of my brother's position and planned his death.

I am a butler to the King.

I am the King's beloved son.

I am the King's brother.

I am a jester.
