

Blog Discussion Creation of Complex Questions

Level I:

the literal level of analysis involving questions that can be answered with textual reference

Level II:

the interpretative level of analysis involving questions that require one to "read between the lines" for the answer

Level III:

the thematic level of analysis involving questions that move beyond the text and focus on society and the human condition

Examples from The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn:

Level I:

Who goes looking for Huck's body after he has been "murdered"?

Level II:

Why might more people look for Huck's dead body than cared to rescue him from his abusive, drunken father?

Level III:

What does our "morbid curiosity" say about us as a society?
